

Queens Chronicle 2016

'Gardens Of Creation' Brighten Douglaston

PHOTO BY RICK MAIMAN

Gorgeous plants were displayed at the Douglaston Garden Club's annual Small Standard Flower Show on Tuesday. Titled "Gardens of Creation," the event was held at the Community Church of Douglaston.

At the top right is a winning entry in the competition that utilized tulips, the curly willow and the calla leaf.

In the top left corner, clockwise from left, are another winning entry in the competition; Little Neck resident Rosemarie Robertson with her award-winning entry in the Asian Dish Garden Category; Gianna Negovetti of Bayside with her winner in the Orchids Category; the sought-after ribbons; and two creations utilizing mirrors.

Above, accredited National Garden Club Master Life Judges Laura McGlaughlin, Marjorie Losen and Nancy Irace peer discerningly at entries in the competition.

And in the right corner, clockwise from near right, are Sara Coman of Douglaston with her winning entry in the Pink Azalea Category; Pat McKenna of Douglaston with her winning entry in the Natures Celebration Category; and Gail Berti and Bette Gallo looking over one of the entries.

All of Queens should be so beautiful.

Queens Chronicle

Phone number: 718-205-8000

Editorial Fax: 718-205-0150

Advertisers Fax: 718-205-1957

E-mail: mailbox@qchron.com

Address: 62-33 Woodhaven Blvd.

Rego Park, NY 11374